

Trio Gaia offers dynamic, personally relevant experiences inside and outside the concert hall and serves as New England Conservatory's graduate piano trio in residence. Recently, the trio won 1st prize at the WDAV Young Chamber Musicians Competition and top prizes in the 2021 Chamber Music Yellow Springs and 2019 Plowman National Chamber Music Competitions. Dedicated to sharing classical music in the community, Trio Gaia has performed in recital halls, schools, and community centers across the US and has presented educational residencies for the Panama Jazz Festival and Virginia Arts Festival. The trio's current mentors include Vivian Weilerstein, Yeesun Kim, and Kim Kashkashian. When not rehearsing, you can find Grant, Yi-Mei, and Andrew cooking together or writing original arrangements and compositions.
